Italian D.S. Threatening Military Govt But For Which Side?

ER Editor: As journalist Cesare Sacchetti indicates about Italy below, France also has quite possibly a large section of its military watching closely what is happening in the country by the globalist forces. It has openly declared its opposition to the policies of these forces over the past few months.

The two images within the text below have been added by ER.

The military government is the last assault of the New World Order against Italy

CESARE SACCHETTI

Many Italian readers have thought that Marcello Sorgi, former director of Tg1, one of the most important mainstream media sources in Italy, has had a sort of sunstroke. Many have thought this because of his last article entitled "Why there will be no political crisis in August", an article written when he wrote for "La Stampa", the third-largest Italian newspaper.

Sorgi in his article has, for the first time, pronounced two words, which have been haunting Italian politics for a while. The two words are "military government".

Before proceeding with this analysis, it is important to remember a fact. La Stampa is a publication owned by the Elkann family, owners of FIAT, the Italian automotive company. They have also been historically tied to the most powerful banking family in the world, the Rothschilds.

Therefore, if this newspaper starts to speak about an even more subversive scenario than the one that Italy is currently living, it is not by accident.

This article was meant to send a message to the Italian political parties.

In his article, Sorgi is stressing some very obvious facts. The parties that form the so-called national unity government headed by Mario Draghi, the former ECB president, are showing some reluctance in going on with their support for Draghi's government.

The reasons for this discontent are unsubstantial. The entire Italian political system is strictly subservient to the deep state and the international finance that paved the way to Draghi for becoming Italy's PM.

The problem is that some of these parties are starting to realize that backing Draghi is eroding their electoral base.

For instance, the former populist party, Cinque Stelle (the Five Stars Movement) is openly showing some criticism against Draghi for his proposed new judicial reforms. Five Stars is currently headed by Giuseppe Conte, the former Italian PM, accused of being involved in Italygate.

These new judicial reforms would basically abolish jail sentences for serious crimes and would be the "fait accompli" agenda of another political party, the Radical Party. The Radical Party is an Italian party that is ferociously anti-Christian and has been promoting for decades drug legalization, pornography, abortion, and divorce.

At the same time, on economic issues, the Radicals have been promoting the neoliberal agenda, which has privatized many strategic assets owned by the State and transferred the control of the Italian economy to a restricted group of local and foreign financiers.

We could say that the moral and economic dismantling of Italy has been proceeding with the implementation of the Radical Party's agenda, which was financed not surprisingly by George Soros.

However, parties like the FSM (Five Stars) have to show some apparent opposition to some parts of Draghi's judicial reform because the electoral turnouts are approaching and these parties need to recover some votes before the elections.

This situation has irritated the Italian deep state and Freemasonry, which do not allow any personal political interest to prevail over the execution of the Great Reset plan in Italy.

The fact that Freemasonry has inspired and allowed the birth of Draghi's government is not just a rumor.

Italian renowned Freemasons, like Gioele Magaldi, have been praising the formation of this government.

The Great Reset plan

In any case, to understand why a major Italian newspaper like "La Stampa" is openly speaking about a military government, we need to take a step back and try to comprehend what the Great Reset is and what the original plans of globalism for Italy and the world were.

During the last year and a half, Italy and many countries of the world have been at the center of a fake pandemic, which was correctly defined by the Russian colonel Kvachov as a "terrorist operation".

This operation was conceived as a catalyzing event, a sort of global 9/11, to destabilize the world, provoke the collapse of the national States, and finally ushering the one-world government.

The outcome of this artificial crisis is described in the Rockefeller publication called "Operation Lockstep".

The term "lockstep" was not chosen by chance because in this scenario there will be no room for those who are contrary to the new global authoritarian society triggered by the so-called pandemic.

At the beginning of this crisis, the paper shows how personal freedoms have been restricted in the name of a fake "health security". Global lockdowns enforced by the governments provoke an economic collapse and at this point, the system creates an artificial scarcity of food.

People will see no other option but to take to the streets and rebel against governments that have provoked this disastrous scenario. The su

next steps of this crisis. Here the system

Either you take the jab and get a pittance to rehabilitation camps. Some countri already building COVID detention camps.

This destabilizing scenario perfectly matches year.

Please help truthPeep spread the word :)

The militarization was planned to usher in the Great Reset, which was supposed to take place by June 2021.

However, we haven't seen the accomplishment of this plan.

The Great Reset has not still shown up.

There are probably three reasons to explain the partial failure of this plan.

The first is that the globalist powers have not yet reclaimed the control of the United States. At this moment, the United States seems to be ruled by a military government that is not loyal to the so-called Biden administration.

The participation of the US to get to the New World Order is still essential. The idea of building a one-world government without the involvement of the first-world superpower is simply a chimera.

The second reason is that the second world superpower, Russia, has not changed its mind about a global government.

On January 2021, Putin scolded the cabal before the globalist club of DAVOS. On that occasion, the Russian President was very clear. The attempts to build a global authoritarian society ruled by a tiny élite of wealthy financiers had failed.

The third reason is that China has been showing some reluctance in backing this plan. China is not very happy about joining a world government ruled by Western élites; instead, it prefers one headed by China itself.

In the last decades, we have seen how neoliberal institutions such as the WTO have allowed the huge economic growth of China by giving a green light to the exportation of its cheap and low-quality goods.

The Western financial powers have allowed China to expand because the idea of globalist think-tanks such as the Club of Rome is to completely de-industrialize Europe and the US and transfer all the production to China.

In this plan, the Western world is reduced to being an importer of Chinese goods.

However, people like George Soros have overlooked a very important fact: China wants more. Peking wants to sit on the throne. It doesn't just want to expand its economic power. It wants to call the shots and NOT receive orders from London, Davos, and New York.

This is why there have been growing tensions between the globalist powers and China.

Cyber Polygon: the next false flag of globalism

Despite the lack of these essential conditions to "re-order" the international society, Davos wants to go for it anyway.

Therefore, the cabal is already working on the next artificial crisis. In this regard, Cyber Polygon seems to fit all the characteristics needed to destabilize many countries in the world.

Cyber Polygon is a drill that was recently performed by the WEF. In this scenario, cybernetic attacks disrupt the functioning of the banking system and the food supply chain.

In this scenario, Cyber Polygon would achieve what the COVID terrorist operation couldn't so far, which is the collapse of the global economy and the military take over needed to pave the way to the Great Reset.

However, it doesn't matter that the probabilities of this plan are not very high. These powers don't matter. They just want to do much damage as possible before the final collapse.

The reason why Italy and Western Europe will be the ground for this battle is that the EU and the other European governments are firmly in the hands of Davos and George Soros. (ER: we are also wondering about France in this regard, too, since it, like Italy, has been targeted by as-good-as-mandatory vaccines and the health pass. As key countries in Roman Catholicism, it is clear that these two have been the targets of freemasonry through the centuries, including the Illuminati-sponsored French Revolution. Sacchetti refers to this point below.)

Italy, in particular, will probably be one of the countries most affected by the plans of the New World Order.

And this is the main reason why Sorgi has written his article.

The New World Order will try to launch its final assault against the country of Italy, which incarnates most the Greek-Roman and Christian roots of the Western world. The cabal fiercely despises Italy for this reason. The globalist society is founded upon liberal and masonic principles, which are the opposite of the Catholic and traditional identity of Italy.

This is probably why the last chapter of war waged by the Club of Rome against Italy took place in the 70s when this group ordered the moral and economic destruction of this country.

In this destructive scheme, Draghi (pictured) has been playing a crucial role.

One could probably not find a more effective economic hitman than Draghi in all the world. In 1992 Draghi, with surgical precision dismantled and sold off the Italian public industry to the Anglo-Saxon banking financiers.

This episode is infamous in Italian history. On the night of June 2, 1992, Draghi, who was the director of the ministry of Economics, along with other key government people auctioned off the best Italian strategic assets on board Britannia, the flagship boat owned by Queen Elizabeth.

It was likely one of the most treasonous episodes of Italian modern history.

It was one of the most brutal assaults by the NWO against Italy.

Therefore, this could be the script written for Italy by the cabal. In autumn, the political scenario will be destabilized by cybernetic attacks, which have already started to target Italian regional institutions, or by illegal migrants, whose arrivals have skyrocketed under Draghi's government.

In this regard, illegal migrants could be an irregular militia used by the system to hit those who will rebel against the government.

The Italian President, Mattarella, could resign before the natural expiry of his mandate in 2022 and Draghi could quickly replace him.

Freemasonry has already let us know that it wants to see Draghi as the next Italian head of State.

At this point, the military option could be enforced by Mattarella, if he doesn't resign before 2022, or by his successor, most probably Draghi, who will face a crisis scenario provoked by the system itself.

The controlled chaos is meant to pave the way to the military government that will handle the Great Reset.

Ordo ab chaos is still the ruling principle of Freemasonry.

However, there are three main factors that the cabal is overlooking and they could cause this entire scheme to fail.

The first is that Trump's return seems to be really at hand. The audits are proceeding and are showing irrefutable proof of fraud.

If Trump will come back to the White House, the Italian deep state strictly tied to the US deep state will suffer a fatal blow.

The second is that several parts of the Italian military do not want a Great Reset for their country. Some militaries have already sent a warning against Draghi's government and his new vaccine racial laws.

The third is that there are 13,000 US military members in Italy and many of these could join those in the Italian military who oppose this plan.

Therefore, the Italian deep state and the globalist families should be really careful of what they wish for.

The military option that they're considering could tremendously backfire against them.

In any case, there is no reason to panic. These powers are deemed to lose. However, they're so psychotic that they will try to go for their plan anyway.

In the upcoming autumn, a great trial lies ahead. It will be a crucial moment for the fate of Italy and the world.

This is the moment to hold our nerve.

It is more important than ever to keep in mind that the material side of this battle is deeply intertwined with the spiritual side.

The rule has not changed. Non praevalebunt.

A Sovereign Internet
Cyber Polygon 2021

ER Editor: We also recommend this piece we published by Brandon Smith back in April of this year concerning Cyber Polygon (set to begin on July 9, 2021) titled Globalists Will Need Another Crisis In America As Their Reset Agenda Fails:

> One factor within the Event 201 simulation that never played out, though, was the WEF projections on deaths. The war game suggested at least 65 million initial deaths due to the pandemic. Early projections on the death rate suggested 2% to 3% of the population or more. The same projections were repeated by the UN's World Health Organization when the real pandemic was first revealed to the public.
> Instead, Covid-19 has been a letdown for the globalists, with a tiny death rate of around 0.26% (ER: Prof. John Ioannidis changed this to 0.15%) outside of nursing homes. Meaning, 99.7% of the population has nothing to worry about from covid. Millions of Americans are becoming savvy to the situation and are refusing to comply with mandates over a virus that is a non-threat.
> Instead of backing off of the Reset scheme, the globalists are continuing to double down. Why? Because they have no other choice. They let the cat out of the bag and bloviating big-mouths like Klaus Schwab told the world exactly what the plan is. If they retreat now, they might NEVER get another chance to implement a world centralization plan – a massive grift which requires medical tyranny in order to prevent rebellion.
> Cyber Polygon
> Just as the Event 201 simulation of a coronavirus pandemic preceded the real thing by only two months, there are concerns that the next World Economic Forum simulation event will also be a precursor to another crisis.
> Cyber Polygon is a war game being held by the WEF this July which is meant to simulate a major cyber attack on the global supply chain and the economic system. There has been endless discussion in the media the past year building up fears of cyber attacks by Russia, China, Iran and even North Korea.
> In terms of supply chain threats, I'm not sure exactly how a cyber attack could do much to disrupt global shipping, unless we are talking about another blockage in a major shipping route like the Suez Canal. But, a successful attack on stock exchanges in places like Wall Street could be devastating. I suggest watching this event carefully as it may be designed to precede a real cyber attack sometime this year.

Italian journalist Cesare Sacchetti gives us the big picture on all of this below.

Putin's move to counter Cyber Polygon's plan: Russia is working to have its sovereign internet

CESARE SACCHETTI

Russia is already working on finding solutions to disconnection from the world wide web.

It turns out that the country has already enforced some general tests to separate from the Internet and try out a sort of sovereign internet.

Tests were conducted from June 15 to July 15 and the participants were the Russian State-owned company, Rostelecom, along with the four major mobile phone providers.

Apparently, the results were quite successful and these drills could reveal a precise strategy of the Kremlin.

Russia has not been too happy with the Internet since 2014, when Euromaidan, the coup masterminded by the Obama administration and George Soros overthrew the former Ukrainian President Yanukovich.

The reason why Russia is looking for a way to separate itself from the Internet could be strictly related to Cyber Polygon.

Cyber Polygon is the drill that the World Economic Forum has recently enforced. The idea behind this drill is to prevent a general cybernetic attack that is able to disrupt the internet and the food supply chain.

However, the drills in the environment of the globalist institutions assume a different meaning and purpose.

They are not meant to prevent a specific scenario, but rather they are meant to pave the way to an artificial crisis scenario picked in advance by the globalist élites.

The strategy is simple as effective. By destabilizing a country, international powers achieve a predetermined result.

In this regard, the most clear and recent example comes from Event 201. Event 201 is a simulation run in October 2019 by the Johns Hopkins Institute and financed by the Bill Gates Foundation that "incidentally" predicted the so-called pandemic that would erupt three months later.

Speaking of "pandemic predictions", there's also another perfect example that concerns a paper published in 2010 by the Rockefeller Foundation, whose title is "Operation Lockstep".

In this document, there's everything that we've been witnessing. Basically, the paper foresees a "pandemic" that would pave the way to a global authoritarian society.

The Covid terrorist operation, a brilliant definition by Russian Colonel Kvachov, is none other than a catalyzing global event to usher in the New World Order.

In other words, the "pandemic" is a sort of global 9/11 that was conceived to precipitate the world in a state of controlled chaos after which a one-world government would emerge.

So this was the original and essential purpose of the pandemic artificial crisis. However, things were not going as scheduled.

According to several whistle-blowers, the Covid terrorist operation should have triggered a global economic collapse by June 2021.

In particular, a Canadian insider and an anonymous French government official leaked this information in November 2020.

The Great Reset, planned by the WEF and conceived by Davos chairman, Klaus Schwab, didn't show up.

The reason for this delay could be found in the fact that the deep state hasn't regained control of the United States yet.

The original plan was to oust President Trump through an electoral coup and use the American superpower to drag the rest of the world towards the Great Reset.

All this scheme has turned to be a failure. The Biden administration doesn't seem to be really in charge, and most of the military is still loyal to Trump.

There's an open debate about who's in control of the United States, and the answer could be found in the last days of Trump in the White House.

According to several military sources, Trump in those days signed the Insurrection Act and transferred temporarily the power to the military.

This decision would be a way to prevent the definitive success of the coup d'état attempt enforced against President Trump.

Therefore, the plans of globalism have failed most probably for this reason and the Great Reset hasn't started yet.

However, the cabal is already working on another artificial crisis and the cybernetic attack seems to be, at the moment, their favorite destabilizing scenario.

Cyber Polygon could, if successful, paralyze the web and disrupt the world supply food chain. Panic and chaos would ensue in the world and global governments could militarize society exactly as originally planned in the Rockefeller's paper.

As soon as the WEF drill was completed, cybernetic attacks disrupted the functionality of many websites, such as Amazon and UPS, which were shut down.

The timing is the most influential sign that Davos and the other globalist clubs are seriously considering the cybernetic crisis to achieve their final goal.

Russia has already understood the move of the deep state and it is already at work building its own sovereign Internet to avoid the consequences of a global hacking attack.

Therefore, Russia is still a solid bulwark against the New Order plan.

There's also another problem that globalism is overlooking. The electoral audits in the US are proceeding and proof of voter fraud has already been shown.
